Course Description
HL1001 is an introduction to the study of literature at the tertiary level. The course’s primary goal is to further develop students’ critical reading and writing skills. With the readings, we will pay particular attention to questions of form, style, and context. Through the written assignments, students will become comfortable and confident with the conventions of academic writing while working to develop compelling and well-supported arguments. As we read across a wide range of genres and traditions, our discussions will be focused thematically on the place of literature and the ways in which it travels. This class will call on you to be curious, creative, inquisitive, reflective, and critical.

Core texts:
Shakespeare, The Tempest (Folger)
Shelley, Frankenstein (Dover)
Coetzee, Foe (Penguin)
Course Reader (Available in HSS B1)

Course Assessment:
Paper 1 (Textual Analysis) 15 %
Paper 2 (Comparative Analysis) 20 %
Preparation and Participation 15 %
Final Exam 50 %
100 %

Final Exam: The final exam will contain essay questions about Coetzee’s Foe and Beckett’s Endgame as well as short answer questions drawing on the entire course.

Late Policy: All written work is due in hard copy and soft copy (on NTU Learn) at the start of class. Late work will be accepted within twenty-four hours for a reduced grade and it will receive no instructor comments.

Plagiarism Policy: Plagiarism of any kind is unacceptable. For more details see the School’s notice: http://www.soh.ntu.edu.sg/Programmes/Undergraduate/current/Pages/Plagiarism.aspx
